Edison's Light, His Improvements and Plans

NEW YORK Jan 2[illegible]—[illegible] electric lights in Menlo Park [illegible] in contrast with [illegible] light of the fall [illegible] last evening as yellow [illegible] contrast with electr[illegible] globes containing the glass that have [illegible] up 200 [illegible] to be cracked when the wires [illegible] the glass and have been taken down and their places have been fitted with new lamps [illegible] of which have yet cracked. Edison said last evening that these new lamps gave him good reason to believe that they will not crack at all. He has now [illegible] two [illegible] lights aglow on one circuit. This is the largest number yet used. Three new buildings are now in course of erection on the laboratory grounds. One is for glass blowers, the second for fourteen dynamo machines, by which Edison proposes to start seven hundred lights, and the third is a machine shop.

The American Union Telegraph Lines and the New French Cable Open for Business.

NEW YORK Jan 27—The new American Union Telegraph Co opened for business yesterday to Buffalo, Boston, Baltimore and Canada and intermediate points. The rates charged were exactly the same as the Western Union. The officers said that they were not really ready for business, and would not be until about March 1st. They had consented to anticipate that date merely to accommodate the new French Cable Co, which decided to begin the transmission of messages to France and the continent yesterday. The rates asked by the latter company are also similar to those of their competitors. The Anglo-American and direct cable companies, when asked whether no reduction was intended by the officers of the American Union Co, said that the question of rates had not yet been considered by the board of directors, and they really could not give any definite information on the subject.

Fight between the New York Democratic Factions

NEW YORK, Jan 27—The Tildenites and Tammanyites have gone in force to Albany, each striving to obtain an advantage over the other in filling vacancies in the state committee. Urgent telegrams were received here by rivals, commanding their presence. It is understood that the two Tilden men to be appointed will be Clawsen, the great brewer, and Henry Havemeyer. The former will represent the Germans on the committee and is regarded as favored by Oswald Ottendorfer, proprietor of the Staats Zeitung.

Grant and the Presidency.

Recent publications to the effect that Grant's nearest friends are authorized to announce that he is not a presidential candidate, are known to have been impelled by the hope of eliciting contradictions of the fact from certain gentlemen. This expectation failed, but it can said on good authority that soon after the general reaches Mexico one of his intimate friends will make a statement in his behalf which will definitely settle Grant's status as a factor in the coming presidential struggle.

Grant's Best Friends Oppose his Candidacy for a Third Term.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27—Geo W Childs has said to a correspondent: "I have no hesitation in saying that Grant's best friends have not urged his candidacy for a third term. If he should publicly decline he would please them. Of course they will support him if he is nominated, and not one of them would attempt to influence the general by persuasion one way or the other."

Chess Tournament.

NEW YORK. Jan 27—A chess tournament which has been in progress in this city for several days, was completed to-day with the following scores: McKenzie, 13½; Grundy, 13½ (a tie); Mohle, 13; Sellman, 12½; Judd, 11; Delman, 9½; Ryan, 5½; Ware, 5½; Congdon, 3½; Cohnfeld, 2½. The five prizes are $500, $300, $200, $100 and $50. The winners of the first and second will be decided on Thursday between McKenzie and Grundy; third, Mohle; fourth, Sellman; and fifth, Judd.

Grounds of the Contest of Frank Leslie's Will.

Objections to probate of the late Frank Leslie's will were filed yesterday by his two sons, Alfred and Henry. Henry, who calls himself Frank Leslie Jr, avers that the making of the will was caused by fraud and circumvention and undue influence practiced against decedent by the person named as executrix in the will, whose maiden name was Marion Florence Follen, otherwise known as Mrs Squires, otherwise known as Mrs Frank Leslie; that such person was not, at the death of Frank Leslie, nor at any time the wife of Frank Leslie; that at the time he executed the will, if he did execute it, he was insane and incompetent.

NEW YORK, Jan 27—At a meeting of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad Company to-day, the following directors were elected: Jay Gould, Russel Sage, Wm Bond, Geo J Forrest, Sidney Dillon, Fred L Ames, G M Dodge and F H Bond. The following officers were then elected: President, Jay Gould; vice presidents, F H. Bond and B P McCready.

Two New Orleans Editors Propose to Shoot at Each Other.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 27—The topic of conversation to-night at hotels and public places is the forthcoming duel between State Treasurer Major E H Burke and Major H J Hearsy. Burke, besides being state treasurer, is editor of the New Orleans Democrat, the organ of the democratic party. Hearsy was a few months ago the editor of the Democrat. The difficulty arose from a newspaper discussion regarding the contract for the city printing. Major Burke was challenged by Hearsy and the challenge was promptly accepted yesterday. The seconds are engaged in arranging the details of the duel, which is to take place to-morrow morning. A peaceable settlement of the affair is regarded as impossible.

Steamboat Burned on the Mississippi—Eight Lives Lost

NEW ORLEANS Jan 27—The steamboat Charmer with 2100 bales of cotton was totally destroyed by fire 15 miles above the mouth of Red river. Eight lives were lost—two chambermaids, two cooks, two cabin boys, one fireman and one deckhand. The boat and cargo were valued at $130 000. No further particulars have been received.

WASHINGTON CITY

Decision by the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON Jan 27—Supreme court decision: Worthington administrators etc. vs. Martha W Mason. In error to the circuit court of the United States for the western district of Arkansas. This was a suit brought by defendant in error, the natural daughter of Elisha Worthington by a slave mother, to recover compensation for services rendered to said Worthington during his lifetime in fulfillment of an alleged promise made by him to her before his death. The defendant in error recovered a verdict and judgment below for $12 000. That judgment is here affirmed on the ground that the record shows no error of which the court can take notice.

Davis' Bills

Representative Davis to-day introduced the bill foreshadowed heretofore in the dispatches, providing for [illegible] increase of tariff duty on rice to four cents per pound and [illegible] to 2½ cents [illegible]. He also introduced a bill imposing a duty of three cents per pound on mustard seed, the rate formerly collected before it was placed on the free list, and which Davis proposes to restore in the interest of California production. Also a bill extending until next year the time allowed by the act of 18[illegible] for stamping unstamped documents.

A California Case

WASHINGTON Jan 27—In the house to-day Caldwell of Kentucky, from the committee on private land claims, asked leave to report a resolution instructing the secretary of the interior and his subordinates to cease and desist from hearing or in any way considering an appeal for a patent to any portion of the lands known as Rancho Panoche Grande in California until a bill relative to that land now before congress shall have been disposed of. Page objected.

Senator Lamar Rapidly Recovering his Health

Senator Lamar's friends are much relieved by advices received by Senator Gordon as to his condition. He has left Jackson and is now at his home in Oxford and his health improves steadily. He is therefore expected to be able to resume his seat in the senate very soon.

The Idaho Judgeship Question Settled

The senate during executive session to-day finally disposed of a long standing subject of contest, by confirming Norman Buck's nomination as one of the United States judges for Idaho to succeed Associate Justice Clark, who was nominated as his own successor nearly two years ago and then confirmed by the senate, but whose commission was withheld by President Hayes by reason of certain charges brought to light immediately after the date of the confirmation. The case was before the senate in the last congress and discussed several times but went over from one cause or another until to-day when it was finally settled.

The Exodus Investigation

WASHINGTON, Jan 27—The colored exodus committee heard Warren C Fearing (colored) secretary of the Emigrant Aid society and an employe in the Washington executive office, who testified that he had recently heard many reports of dissatisfaction among the colored people of North Carolina and a desire to emigrate. He had also read that the blacks were highly pleased with their Indiana homes.

Mr Otoy (colored) principal of Howard University testified that he had been in North Carolina frequently of late years and was now identified with the emigration movement. When the blacks were fleeing from oppression to St Louis en route to Kansas a meeting of the National Emigrant society was held to aid them and it was suggested there that the tide be partly diverted from one state (Kansas) and that it would be well to send a portion to Indiana, that being a doubtful state. Otoy alone protested against using his people as political tools, a use which in the south had not redounded to their advantage, for the Ku Klux had plied them with buckshot and they received no protection from the national government. Witness therefore withdrew from the society. He had reliable information that the colored men in North Carolina had been deluded by glowing accounts by Perry, Williams and Taylor, who promised the ignorant blacks that the United States would aid and pay them wages regularly, give them clothing etc. The first batch who went were well received and their letters to their friends started a general exodus. Witness declared that the sentiment of all intelligent colored men and every colored paper in North Carolina opposed the exodus. There was a liberal provision in the state for the education of colored people in the schools and eleemosynary institutions. He declared that he never saw such poor ignorant colored people in North Carolina, as he saw in Oberlin Ohio, the paradise of colored people. Colored men were thriving, industrious and often rich in the south.

Senator Blair will cross examine witness Friday.

Commissioner Hayt and the Indian Board.

WASHINGTON Jan 27—The feeling engendered in the board of Indian commissioners by the charges preferred against Commissioner Hayt will probably end either in the removal of that official or the resignation of one or more members of the board. President Barstow of the board has been an enthusiastic friend of Hayt. He is chairman of the sub committee appointed by the board to investigate Hayt. This sub committee will report exonerating Hayt from Fisk's charges. A resolution introduced into the senate calling upon Schurz for information if any member of the board has been interested in a contract for furnishing supplies to the Indian officers is aimed at Barstow, who is president of the Barstow stove manufacturing company of Rhode Island, which is alleged to have had a contract with Hayt for furnishing stoves to the Indian office.

The house committee on alcoholic liquor traffic has appointed a sub committee to consider the feasibility of congress creating a commission. A commission was advocated by Heram, Price and Aaron M Rowell. The committee had a quorum to-day the first since its organization.

PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECTS

What Murat Halstead Thinks of the Situation—The Grant Boom Almost Dead.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO Jan 27—Murat Halstead telegraphs to his paper from Washington as follows respecting the presidential prospects: There is every prospect that the Grant presidential boom will not last more than two weeks longer. It promises to end peremptorily and finally in the Pennsylvania state convention next week. It is reliably learned here that some of Grant's most intimate friends in Philadelphia have authority from him to act in the premises, and that they will withdraw his name from consideration as a candidate at the Pennsylvania convention, where there will be delegates from several counties instructed for Grant, which will give his friends an opportunity to speak out on the subject. His friends decline to enter into a contest for the position, and of late it has become very evident to them that it would be impossible for him to get the nomination without a contest.

Halstead also quotes [illegible] Grant man as saying that Sherman has been doing [illegible] and has alarmed [illegible] followers [illegible] [illegible] that it is [illegible] votes [illegible] Grant be withdrawn from [illegible]

They say that not more than half a dozen will take their seats in the republican legislature. Their constituents are bolstering them up to this, and meanwhile they will memorialize congress. He stated that no illegal resolution had been passed at the meeting of the home rulers which would warrant the action of the lord lieutenant. A resolution to abandon the banquet on February 3d and give £500 to the poor of the city instead was unanimously adopted. The lord mayor in his remarks upon the action of the lord lieutenant said that he believed the latter had done his utmost to impress upon the government the fearful condition of Ireland.

Appeal from Parnell and Dillon to the People of Canada

BUFFALO Jan 27—Parnell and Dillon have prepared the following appeal to the people of the Dominion of Canada:

The extreme urgency of the distress in Ireland has induced us to appeal to the people of Canada. Famine is already upon the people of the west of Ireland. Thousands are at this moment starving and up to this time the British government has taken no step to save the people from this awful fate. We appeal to the people of the dominion to assist us in saving the lives of our peasantry until we shall have succeeded in arousing the government to a sense of its duty. Necessity is pressing. Even if the government were to move at once, which they show no sign of doing, the machinery employed by them is so cumbersome that no relief could reach the people for about six weeks. In the interval thousands must perish. Let relief committees be formed in every city and town in the dominion and all subscriptions be forwarded immediately to the credit of the Irish famine relief fund in the National Bank of Montreal.

THE INDEBTEDNESS QUESTION

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

You note the difference in assessors' returns between the "money, notes and accounts" and indebtedness. Money, notes and accounts are not in sight of the assessor, and experience everywhere demonstrates that no device of the law has been found sufficient to discover all of them, insomuch that some governments have ceased to try to tax them. The ablest commission perhaps which has considered this question in the United States had David A. Wells at its head and was appointed by the state of New York. After three years' labor that commission recommended the abandonment of the endeavor to tax that species of property and to collect the revenue from tangible property, arguing that taxation would thus adjust itself more equally than now. That the few returned more or less of this class of property for taxation while the many evaded the law, thus making taxation unequal. Examination showed that in that state some of the counties return less personal property for taxation now than they did thirty years ago, while it is manifest that such property has increased many fold in those counties.

But all the discrepancy between money, notes and accounts and indebtedness in Oregon is not chargeable to the former concealed or not returned. For instance the Scottish Loan Company hold a large amount in mortgages on Oregon property. Their notes are all made payable in Dundee, Scotland, and of course not returned for taxation in Oregon. So far as I know every person owing that company deducts the amount of indebtedness from his valuation, and I doubt not every dollar so loaned in the state is thus deducted. That accounts for a considerable portion of the discrepancy. Other funds belonging to parties residing in other states or territories are loaned by friends and agents residing here. The party borrowing may not know who is the owner of the money; at any rate he deducts it as indebtedness. It is not returned for taxation. Much discrepancy can be accounted for in that way. The merchant of Portland sells goods to the merchants of the interior, and takes their notes. The country merchants return the same as indebtedness. The Portland merchant owes for the goods in San Francisco or New York and sends the notes to his creditors there to be applied on his indebtedness or held as collateral. Of course he does not regard them as taxable in Oregon and does not return them as money, notes or accounts. Something of the discrepancy can be charged to this account. The notes and accounts must be on solvent persons. They are not always considered so and the party holding the notes deducts accordingly. The party owing returns full amount as indebtedness. Here discrepancy is accounted for. Three men are on a joint and several note for, says $5000. The party holding the note returns it as $5000. Each of the three parties owing it says to himself "if the other two don't pay I must," and each deducts $5000 as indebtedness from his valuation, making $15 000 and an excess of $10 000. Not a little of the discrepancy is accounted for in this way. And I am not sure but each triplicate deduction are permissible under our statutes. I might go on and enumerate other ways in which the difference is partially accounted for, but I have not time and you have not room. The remedy is not easy to apply. Where other states and governments have failed it is improbable that we can succeed. I think the fairest practicable measure is to adopt the system now and for long years in force in New York, Massachusetts and most of the older states. Tax all tangible property in the hands of the owners as we now do. And confine the deduction of indebtedness to debts due the party claiming the deduction, as we now do not. Or what would not be so well, yet better than our present system, confine the deduction of indebtedness to personal property returned. But the experience of older communities is worth something and they confine it to debts due.

Distance of the Fixed Stars.

Prof Vinot tries by the following illustration to aid the mind in forming a faint notion of the immense distance of the fixed stars from the earth. He says: "Viewed with the unaided eye the stars and the planets appear to have the same diameter. But viewed through a powerful telescope, while the planets are seen to possess clearly appreciable diameters, the stars are still only luminous points. The entire number of visible stars multiplied by five thousand, might, indeed, if placed in one plane, side by side, yet with [illegible] touching one another, be entirely covered by the [illegible] of Jupiter, albeit that disc appears to the naked eye an inappreciable point."

SAN FRANCISCO Jan [illegible]—At the annual meeting of Belcher Mining Co the old board was re-elected, except [illegible] A [illegible] vice J D Fry.

At the Belcher meeting 80 110½ shares were represented. Secretary Crockett's report showed receipts during past year of $516 [illegible], of which $416 000 was derived from assessments. The present indebtedness of the company is $44 [illegible]30 96. The superintendent's report, after reviewing the work of the year, concludes: "I would beg leave to call your special attention to the decided improvement on our 2760 foot level. From the appearance of the ore streak there discovered, from its being in the center of the vein and from its being the widest and best at the bottom of the drift, and as we have never found any ore from the 1,600 foot level down to this point, these indications, coupled with the favorable formations we are now meeting on our 3000 foot level, give me the greatest hopes that in the near future the Belcher mine will again come to the front as one of the leading mines of the Comstock."

A Big Swindling Scheme Discovered

The Bulletin this evening publishes an account of what looks like a bogus deal in Wales Consolidated. The movement it is said is being engineered by one of the officials of the mine, a graduate from the office of the famous mahogany deal, who it is alleged has been giving points to every one of his acquaintance in the city by letters and telegrams, and has recently telegraphed them all under injunction of secrecy, "Uncovering rich ore. A grand boom has commenced, and it will go up to fifty. Buy without limit." It accidentally became known to some of the recipients of these missives that they were being sent broadcast, and explanations followed. One of the parties professes to have learned that Wales has no machinery on the ground, ore in the dump or anything to indicate the presence of ore in the mine.

Port Townsend Items—Loss of Sheep on San Juan—Etc., Etc.

PORT TOWNSEND Jan 26—The steamer City of Chester arrived on Saturday night.

During a heavy southeast gale here Saturday morning the schooner Reve, from Honolulu, dragged ashore. Captain Hooper, of the revenue cutter Wolcott, immediately steamed up and succeeded in towing her off into safe anchorage. She sustained no damage whatever although at the time she dragged the wind was blowing at the rate of fifty miles per hour. About noon the wind suddenly changed to the northwest and blew heavily until 10 P M, when frost set in, followed by a heavy hail storm.

Arctic geese still continue flying northward. Violets have been in bloom for a week.

Large losses of sheep by the recent storm are reported from the San Juan islands, also a rumor that a resident of Shaw's Island perished from exposure.

A Rush to the Skagit Mines.

SEATTLE, Jan 26—The anticipated rush to the Skagit gold mines is now fairly under way. A large number of miners who arrived here from San Francisco Saturday evening on the City of Chester left this afternoon for the mines. By the last account the Skagit river for 100 miles above its mouth was entirely clear of ice. Much difficulty however is experienced in crossing mountain spurs to Ruby creek on account of deep snow, and many miners who have recently gone up the river are encamped at the head of navigation unable to get into the diggings.

A Memorial to Congress Reciting the Commercial Advantages of the Bay and Asking an Appropriation to Improve the Entrance.

We have received a circular signed by M Jacobs, mayor of Corvallis, Dr J R Bayley, John Burnett, E A Abbey and Wallis Nash, citizens of Benton county, asking us to publish the following memorial:

1 That the population of the state is increasing at a very rapid rate, an immigration of upwards of [illegible] 000 persons having been received in the year 1879, as proved by the statistics of the Portland Board of Trade.

2 That the principal towns of the state being situated and the larger portion of the population settled in the Willamette valley, the exports and imports from that country are being so largely increased that the need of additional outlets for the traffic of the state is severely felt, practically passengers and goods having now to pass both inwards and outwards through the port of Portland, situated on the Willamette river, only twelve miles from the northern boundary of the state.

Frank Leslie was not his real name. It was Henry Carter. He was of English birth and aged fifty eight years at the time of his death.

Attorney General Devens is reported to have said that the republican delegation of Massachusetts is likely to be solid for Secretary Sherman.

Southern papers report that the cotton crop shows an increase over last year of from 200,000 to 300 000 bales. There is now no excuse for scrawny women.

Mr Algernon Sartoris, chiefly known to fame as the son in law of Gen Grant, is in New York, having recently arrived from Europe. His wife and children did not accompany him.

The Mexican government has devised the most practicable method of settling the Indian question that has ever been proposed. It offers $100 for the scalp of every Indian killed in the state of Chihuahua.

Mrs Gen Grant is reported as saying that the happiest period of her life was when she lived in Galena, Ill, in a small brick house and had one servant. And she said it was the ex-president's happiest time.

A Galveston paper having announced the birth of twins to a Mrs Archer, of that city, another journal thinks her husband must be the party referred to in the quotation: "In sat[illegible] one Archer would not one suffice."

The oldest postoffice in the country is that at Jamestown, Va, where letters have been delivered in some form or other for 263 years. The first postmaster was probably John Smith, and the last is Henry Clay, who has just been appointed. His salary is $51 per annum, or nearly $1 per week.

LANDS,

PEN D'OREILLE DIVISION.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

Is now offering for sale nearly

5,000,000

Acres of its lands in the Pen d'Oreille Division in Eastern Oregon which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the railroad as now located from the mouth of Snake River in Washington Territory to Lake Pen d'Oreille in Idaho. These lands of unexcelled fertility and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation, causing a rapid growth in population of the country and increase in value to those who now purchase.

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company passed November 19th, 1879, fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre, which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company. This is in fact cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law, for the expense attending the making of final proof, and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry, is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company:

Resolved, That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 50 per acre, with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting, surveying and conveying said land.

This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber, nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites, nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs or other natural supply where it shall be for the interest of settlers at large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual, nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road.

To persons wishing to purchase on time, the remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms: One-fourth cash at time of purchase, the balance in three equal yearly payments at 7 per cent interest. The above price for time sales is adopted for the present, but may be subject to change in the future.

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase, or "Settlers' Applications" as they are called, for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the land applied for, are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment or time contract for the same. For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax.

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied for, have no right to the first privilege of purchase; such lands will be sold to the first applicant. Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same, as after a given time the land is subject to sale to any other person.

The land in this division being now offered for sale no more Settlers' Applications will be filed.

THE MODOC WAR DEBT

It is suggested by a reader of THE OREGONIAN, a person who takes a close and intelligent interest in the affairs of the state, that we call the attention, if possible, of the Oregon delegation in congress to the Modoc war debt. It is a subject which undoubtedly does require their attention. The legislature was induced to pay the debt some years ago and issued bonds for that purpose under representations that after the state had assumed it congress would pay. The bonds—some $15 000—became due on the 1st January, 1880 but there is no provision for paying them, the last legislature not having made any. An act was indeed passed to appropriate all money coming and to come into the treasury of the state from the United States to payment of the state Modoc war bonds, and directing the treasurer of the state on receipt of any money on this account from the United States to advertise for bids for redemption of the bonds. But this amounts to nothing as congress has made no appropriation. Perhaps it was not generally understood by members of the legislature that the bonds would mature before the next meeting of that body, as their attention was not, we believe, called to the subject by the outgoing governor and the incoming state officials may not have distinctly understood the condition of the bonds. When Lafayette Lane was in congress he offered a bill which, if we mistake not, passed the house, directing the payment of a portion of the debt, some $80 000 or thereabouts. It did not go to the senate or at any rate did not pass that body. Yet it should not be difficult to get such a bill through the house this session. If it is not done the next legislature must devise some way of paying the debt, or of taking up the outstanding bonds by a new issue.

The last legislature was induced to issue bonds for expenses of the Indian troubles in Eastern Oregon of the preceding summer under similar representations that if the state would assume the debt congress would pay it. This is always specious. Congress is less likely to pay than it would be if the state did nothing and left the claimants to congress. After the claim-holders get their pay from the state they do not trouble congress about it, and as nobody does, of course congress does nothing. If the state had not issued the Modoc war bonds the claimants would long ago have got a bill through congress directing payment of the debt. The same is true of the Indian war bonds issued by authority of the last legislature. The thing for the state to do in future cases is to do nothing, and refer the claimants to congress, which ought to and will provide for protection of the frontier. The state is not able to pay such bills and ought not to do it. And the way "not to do it" is to refer the matter to congress. If the state declines to pay, the claimants will see that congress does pay. But if the state pays, there is nobody to look after the business before congress, as our delegation are too busy looking after great national interests, in other words, "the interests of the party," to give the subject adequate attention. But perhaps these patent facts will make no more difference in the future than they have in the past. The next row we have with the Indians will be followed by an appeal to the state for payment, under the same specious plea and assurance that if the state will assume the debt and issue bonds, congress will appropriate money to pay them by the time they become due; and good, easy, credulous members of the legislature will enact the bill drawn up for them by the claim agents, and the state will issue the bonds. As preparation for this, most of the claims will have been bought up by speculators at nominal prices, and their attorneys will be on hand to engineer their bill through the legislature. Congress will never know anything about the matter and never care anything about it. Such are the ways of claim-holders, and such are the ways of legislatures. Between the two, about the only recourse the taxpayers have is the prayer, "Good Lord deliver us."

The state has paid, if our information be correct, almost if not quite $50,000 interest on these Modoc bonds, which, with the principal due, amounts to $163,000. If our delegation in congress will make the endeavor we can probably get $80,000 of it back in money; and if the state were an individual with ordinary capacity for learning, the experience might be worth the other $105 000. Likely, however, we shall take the whole $183,000 in experience. That would not be dear tuition if we ever learned anything in that school. But we do not.

THE ENGLISH AND IRISH LAND QUESTION.

Some criticism, we have heard, has been passed on recent remarks made by this journal on the land system of England and Ireland. Objection has been made that the views stated seem to favor forcible seizure of great estates and communistic division of property. Such a conclusion should not be drawn from statements designed mainly to show that the distress so generally prevailing in those countries, and especially in Ireland, and so strongly appealing to the charity of mankind, is largely the result of a system which accumulates and keeps in the hands of a few landlords, mostly non-residents, the larger part of the real estate of the country, the whole income and substance of which they invest or expend elsewhere. It is said, however that the land system of the United Kingdom has grown into its present form from natural causes, that it is one of the natural fruits of the accumulation of wealth, and that no laws can stop such tendency of things. Now the fact is that the laws were devised and are maintained expressly to prevent the subdivision of estates, and the change insisted on by thoughtful reformers simply is that the law shall not oppose the subdivision of estates if circumstances would otherwise render it certain to happen. All that they desire is that the law should not interfere to prevent the sale and breaking up of great estates when change of circumstances or poverty or misfortune, or bad management would otherwise bring them into the market.

The land laws of Great Britain emanated from and are the offspring, so to speak, of the feudal system established in the country by the conqueror and his successors in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Since those days a continual struggle has gone on, the people seeking to modify them, or to find out means of evading them, the great nobles and sovereigns who were interested in them seeking to maintain their stringency. Sometimes, says a writer of recognized authority, one party has gained ground in the struggle and sometimes another, but as time went on the growing necessities of the nation and increasing power of the middle classes effected many modifications. Then broke out the great French revolution of 1789. It found the feudal system existing in much greater stringency abroad than in Great Britain and Ireland, so which it swept away the feudal laws first in France, Belgium and Holland and then in Germany and the northern part of Italy. It did not affect the modified feudal land laws which still existed in Great Britain and Ireland. The great estates broke up on one side of the channel but on the other they not only continued to exist but they also continued greatly to increase in size and greatly to diminish in numbers.

This result in England and Ireland is mainly the consequence of laws which prevent free trade in land. These laws may be briefly stated thus:

1 The laws which allow a landowner, by his deed or by his will, to prevent his land from being sold or lessened in size either during his own life or for many years after his death.

The laws which [illegible] owner [illegible] avail himself of his power to [illegible] such [illegible] will gives all his land without division [illegible] to the landowner's next heir. This is the law of primogeniture.

The laws which allow the landowner without selling any portion of his estate to let portions for long terms of years from 1 to 99 years and to subject them to all kinds of covenants which affect these portions for generations after the death of the land owner and after a change of all the circumstances under which the leases were made.

To go into explanatory details on these points would be very long. It is only possible to say within the limits here allowed that if the laws did not keep the great estates out of market when so many circumstances would otherwise bring them into it, if the laws did not assist the landowners to preserve their estates from the natural consequences of spendthrift and speculative successors, of bad or ignorant management or of immoral gambling or improvident children, if the laws did not keep the great estates together, in spite of all changes which make it expedient in an owner to sell, if the laws of primogeniture, wills and settlements were altered, if the dead man's arrangements were not allowed to bind the land long after his death, many of the great estates would come into market and would in order to fetch the best prices divide and sell in smaller plots just as they have done in other countries. And this is substantially the basis on which intelligent men of Great Britain and Ireland who attack the existing land system seek change and reform. The laws as they exist foster accumulation of land in a few hands. What is sought is removal of these artificial regulations, so that natural causes, under which land would be subdivided, may come into operation. The laws are, however, maintained in their present form because parliament is the representative mainly of the land holding class.

The existence and small number of these vast estates, supported by privilege and guarded by special laws, create an unnatural and unwise competition among the owners, each to emulate his neighbor and increase his possessions. Each great owner knows that political influence, social influence, position among other great neighbors, depend, to a great degree, on the extent of landed possessions. The first and highest ambition of the enormously wealthy person, under such a system, is to acquire a landed estate, no matter what he has to pay for it, and the more he can obtain the higher the consideration he receives. The owning of land in vast tracts in Great Britain and Ireland has been so long associated with aristocratic or high social rank that it has come to be chiefly valued for this reason, and the competition for land for social reasons is as potent a factor in the price and consequent rent of land as the competition for economical uses and reasons. Of course no soil serves this purpose of social pride or aristocratic instinct except British soil. It is not probable, perhaps, that any real relief can be obtained from the existing system during the present generation, or indeed for a much longer period, for the system of land tenure is so interwoven with the whole political and social system of the nation, and is so rooted in all the historical associations, the feelings and mental habits of the British people, that it is quite certain that they would still prefer the existing system with all its evils to any radical reform such as was effected by the French revolution.

Through English newspapers we have the report of the liquidators of the City of Glasgow bank, the failure of which on the 2d October, 1878, caused ruin and distress to the shareholders of that ill-fated institution. The total liabilities of the bank when the liquidators entered upon their duties on October 22d, 1878, were about $64 000,000, the assets in the neighborhood of $38 000,000, leaving a deficiency of about $26 000,000, for which each shareholder was liable to the full extent of his property. From the assets the liquidators have so far realized about $21,000 000. The first assessment on shareholders was at the rate of $500 for every $100 of stock, which yielded $10 500,000, and exhausted the means of many of the shareholders. A second assessment was levied on those remaining solvent, $2,250 on $100 which yielded $11,500,000. It is not yet known what certain uncollected assets will yield, but it is thought there will still be four and a half millions to pay. This will have to be contributed by 269 shareholders out of the original 1 819, the other 1,550 having been utterly ruined by the two first calls. Nearly 600 persons obtained a discharge of their obligation on surrendering their entire estates after the first assessment. The insufficient punishment awarded to the authors of this national misfortune was a burlesque of justice, and a standing reproach to the alleged impartiality of British law.

People of Benton county, as will be seen by the memorial we print to-day, are making renewed efforts to bring before the attention of congress the importance and practicability of a liberal appropriation for improvement of the entrance of Yaquina Bay. Their petition is being circulated for signatures in nearly all parts of the state. There is no citizen who would not like to see such appropriation secured, for though a printed slip which accompanies the memorial seems to be designed to set forth the view that the movement is one of rivalry if not of hostility to Portland, yet the fact is Portland is desirous of witnessing the advancement of all the interests of the country, general and special, and is not so narrow as to expect or desire to monopolize all the improvement for itself. If a good port can be established at Yaquina Bay it will be an important step in the commercial development of the state. At the same time it will promote, assist and increase rather than obstruct or diminish commercial enterprise in Portland, and upon established lines of commercial movement. Our country is a vast one and capable of great and complex development.

Gen Garfield is said to have followed scrupulously the example of old Ben Wade in not soliciting support from any quarter for the United States senate. Referring to his election he says:

> I absolutely stood aloof, and in my twenty years of public life I have never [illegible] for any of the offices which I have held. This was too important a one to be scrambled for after [illegible] personal attention, and I appreciate it all the [illegible] come in this [illegible] way.

Mr Wade was elected three times to the United States senate from Ohio and never once visited the legislature while he was a candidate before it. [illegible] was elected three times from Massachusetts without ever soliciting the position or appearing at a session of the legislature when a senator was to be chosen. Such examples as those of Wade, Sumner and Garfield are worthy of imitation. Would that such a course [illegible] as [illegible] in Oregon as in Ohio [illegible] Massachusetts. The chance would be [illegible] at the next election [illegible] of [illegible].

According to the report of the government directors of the Union Pacific road the gross earnings last year were over $13,000,000 and the operating expenses were reduced to about 4[illegible] per cent. Out of the net earnings [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] the interest and [illegible] the [illegible] of the funding [illegible] and [illegible] the stockholders [illegible] per cent.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING. JAN. 28 1880.

CITY.

THE REASON WHY.—Certain thoughtless persons having an idle fondness for knowing about the private affairs of other people have criticised THE OREGONIAN because its columns have not contained an account of the peculiar conduct of a highly respectable lady while in the delirium of sickness, full details of which have appeared in the little daily prints. It is quite unnecessary to explain to people of sense and judgment or of kindly feeling way the delirious freak of a sick woman, resulting in no harm to herself, nor to any way affecting the public or any person excepting the members of her own family, should be bruited abroad and made notorious, perhaps to her lifelong embarrassment and sorrow. The facts of the case were known to our reporters on Sunday, more than twenty-four hours before they were printed by any paper; but were not published because we considered it a private misfortune, in which the public could have no just concern nor any interest except perhaps of morbid and shameless curiosity. It is not the business or right of newspapers to expose the personal or family affairs of private life, and no journal of character or common decency will so wound the deepest of human sensibilities.

SIDNEY DELL VS. THE SUPREME COURT.—Hon. W. Lair Hill called the attention of the supreme court, on Monday last, to certain affidavits filed by himself and other prominent attorneys, relating to certain defamatory articles which they claimed were written by Sidney Dell, desiring to know what action if any would be taken thereon, as he (Hill) desired to secure the presence of certain witnesses from Roseburg if necessary to support the allegations therein set forth. The court held that it would be necessary to give Mr. Dell notice of the intentions of the attorney, and thus enable him to reply to any questions they might propound to him, intimating further that the matter would receive the attention of the court before the close of the term.

LODGE REORGANIZED.—Monday evening C. T. Tozier reorganized Tualatin lodge, I. O. G. T., at Bridgeport with thirty-four charter members and the following officers: Geo. C. Day, W. C. T.; Miss Ella Byron, W. V. T.; Sarah J. Day, W. T.; Gordon Hayes, W. S.; W. K. Haines, W. F. S.; Joseph Day, W. M.; Miss Varian Ball, W. I. G.; Yeargin Walker, W. O. G.; L. Galbreth, W. C.; Miss Mattie Watts, W. R. S.; Miss Emma Ball, W. L. S.; Miss Maria Sweek, W. A. S.; Miss Lillie Sweek, W. D. M.; Isaac Ball, W. L. D.

MARRIAGE.—Mr. H. M. McCartney, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad, was married last night to Miss Catharine Stout of Elizabeth, N. J., at the residence of Capt. Geo. J. Ainsworth, Bishop Morris officiating. The ceremony was witnessed only by a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. McCartney will make their home this summer at Ainsworth, the headquarters of the engineers' department.

DESTITUTE MEN.—The captains of the police report that every evening applications are made to them by destitute men for lodging. The men who have applied tell distressing stories of long tramps from east of the mountains and from up the valley, and many of them seem to be sober men and bear the evidence of having seen rough times.

FILE YOUR PAPERS.—Attorneys having cases in the state circuit court, should file their papers with the county clerk not later than Friday, 30th inst., if they wish to secure service on the parties concerned. The next term of court will convene on Monday, Feb. 9th, so that there is no time to spare.

NEWLY PAINTED.—All the stalls and pillars and the ceiling above them, in New Market building, have recently been painted with pure white gloss. The market now presents a most clean and inviting appearance, and the improvement is appreciated both by the tenants and their patrons.

ASSAULT.—Yesterday Geo. Rennicks and John A. Carr had a misunderstanding, during which the former assaulted the latter. Justice Wiley will settle the difficulty to-day.

NOTARIES PUBLIC.—Governor Thayer has just appointed Geo. L. Washburn, of Eugene, and Thos. R. Cornelius, of Cornelius, notaries public for the ensuing two years.

APPOINTED.—George S. Brooke has been appointed general freight and ticket agent for the Oregon Steam Navigation Company vice H. W. Fairweather, transferred.

WHEAT FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The State of California steamed up to Pacific dock yesterday and took on 600 tons of shriveled wheat owned by Corbitt & Macleay.

FOR LAFAYETTE.—The steamer City of Quincy will leave for Lafayette at 7 o'clock this morning and tri-weekly hereafter.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Mattie Macleay will have quick dispatch for Honolulu. For freight or passage apply to Corbitt & Macleay.

J. K. Gill & Co. offer for sale the "Multigraph," for multiplying copies. Buy one, for it is well worth the price.

By unanimous consent, the "beautiful snow" is declared a nuisance of the first water.

An exchange says: "Where are all the loons?" The Willamette river boom is still with us.

John Maguire, George D. Chaplin, and the entire dramatic company have sailed for Portland.

This will be a tough season on button holes. Election next June. Comment superfluous.

"When the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen" seems to be an exploded aphorism.

This year the prudent young man ought to say something by. It is leap year, and the girls will have to stand the oysters and ice cream.

The boss fiddlers do not slight Portland. Camilla Urso and Remenyi have both been here, and now we are soon to have the great Wilhelmj.

The "oldest inhabitant" is dead, at least such is the conclusion of knowing ones. He has not been seen or heard from since the great storm.

The Burlington Hawkeye man perpetrates the following:

> If you have a friend and you love him still,
> Let my advice through your actions glimmer—
> Publish his vices in nonpareil,
> But print his virtues in big long primer.

This is the sort of weather when a pedestrian goes out and snuffs the pure fresh air and fills his lungs with it, and looks up at the exhilarating winter sky and strides out, smiling, on the frozen sidewalk, and slips and falls down and hurts himself.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

Particulars of the Fate of C. W. Mason, who Perished from Cold in the Last Snow Storm.

A communication has been received from H. B. McAllister, of Hillhurst, Pierce county, W. T., which gives full particulars of the death of C. W. Mason, who was frozen on the 11th inst.

The deceased was a resident of Pierce county, and was on his way from Tenino to Hillhurst. It appears that Mason had been spending a few days among acquaintances near Tenino, meanwhile the snow falling to the depth of two and a half or three feet. On Sunday, the 11th inst., he resolved to return to his home near Hillhurst. He started out on foot along the line of the N. P. R. R. alone through the snow, which, on the track, was from eighteen inches to two feet in depth, no trail having been previously opened. The distance to be traveled was at least thirty miles. So far as can be learned, he was seen for the last time alive at Tenino about 11 o'clock A. M. of the same day (Sunday, 11th) toiling slowly onward. This was the last seen of the poor fellow until about 10:30 A. M., the next day (Monday), when Mr. P. Ross, an employe of the N. P. R. R. Co., discovered the lifeless body lying in the snow but a few feet from the railroad track, and not more than a quarter of a mile south of Yelm station.

The body, by the kindness of Conductor Thomas Hewitt, was conveyed to the residence of H. B. McAllister, at Hillhurst. The following day an inquest was held by the coroner and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts. On the 14th the remains were buried at Gravel Lake Cemetery. Mr. Mason was aged 46 years. He was an honest and highly respected citizen, and leaves two children and many friends in this state to mourn his untimely death.

A BRILLIANT CRITICISM.

The following high toned and exhaustive review of the last concert of the Handel and Haydn society was published in the Salem Statesman of Sunday, over the name of a Portland correspondent who signs himself "Sniffer:"

A GRAND MUSICAL FARCE.

The Handel and Haydn Society's last rehearsal of "Belshazzar" was the only thing that has been put on the boards at New Market Theater for over a month. It was not a success, and with only several exceptions, the solos were poorly rendered. The choruses did not seem to be under the control of Prof. Kinross at all. Several of the leading parts were sustained by parties who, although they were, or may have been good singers, yet did not have any conception, idea or voice to render so difficult a part.

If "Sniff" were not an ignoramus on the subject of music, he would not have stultified himself in trying to enlighten the good people of Salem on the rendition of the cantata. "The choruses did not seem to be under the control of Prof. Kinross at all." Now, that's news. The audience,—it was composed of cultivated, discriminating persons—was led to believe that the choruses were well balanced, precise and spirited, and decidedly the most entertaining ever given in the city. Verily, the Handel & Haydn society in singing to "Sniffer," cast pearls before a swine.

STATE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.

The ninth annual session of the Oregon State Temperance Alliance will be held in the city of Eugene commencing Wednesday, Feb. 18, 1880. Article 3 of the constitution reads as follows:

This alliance shall be composed of delegates duly elected and accredited from all temperance societies, churches sunday schools and all organized bodies which are known to be in active working sympathy with the temperance reform, the basis of representation being one delegate for the organization, one for every 20 members, and one for every fraction thereof.

The O & C. R. R. and the W. O. R. R. companies have consented to carry delegates as follows: delegates will pay full fare to the alliance and be returned free upon presentation of the secretary's certificate of attendance.

Let the coming session of the alliance be a reunion of all the temperance people of Oregon.

Every vagrant in the city invited to take a walk.

The barometer never as low as it was on the 9th inst.

A street railroad line in the western portion of the city.

A succession of good amusements at New Market theater.

The new ordinances passed, just to see how they will work.

Everybody subscribe for THE OREGONIAN for their own good.

Many new shade trees planted and some of the old ones trimmed.

Horses used to haul several of the steam engines to and from fires.

Every wharf, cellar and back yard thoroughly cleaned before spring.

Every manufactory and mercantile house in Portland to do a prosperous business this year.

Congress at this session appropriate $250,000 for the improvement of the Columbia river.

The west side, from the Willamette river to the foot of the coast range mountains contain one hundred thousand inhabitants.

The telegraph lines to San Francisco, Astoria and the Sound firmly established, so that every storm will not interrupt communication.

Less spleen and petty jealousy evinced by the "subsidiary press" on account of the great superiority of THE OREGONIAN and its consequent prosperity.

The next legislature pass a stringent law preventing cruelty to animals—one that will be clear and concise, covering minor crimes, and that can be as readily enforced as the statute against assault and battery.

The nails of wooden sidewalks kept well driven down, so that ladies will not tear their skirts on them, the public generally stumble over them, and to the end that profanity may be lessened in the city.

Enterprise in Oregon.

There is considerable of it shown in Oregon in the way of building mills, railroads and other needed requirements of the present day, but no enterprise has yet been started that will hold a light to the many cures effected by the use of the OREGON KIDNEY TEA. Ask for it and use NO OTHER medicine. This is an Oregon production, composed of herbs.

Over-Exertion, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron), which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

THE DEATH-RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it, and often find too late that a Fever or Lung trouble has set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year, without a single failure known.

WOOD PAVING.

The question as to which kind of street pavement is the cheapest and most durable has been frequently discussed in the columns of THE OREGONIAN. As the subject is an important and pertinent one, the following article is republished from the Northwestern Lumberman of Jan. 10th:

Among the largest items of consumption of the coarser grades of lumber and timber, the matter of paving blocks is of the greatest importance. There is scarcely a city or town of any importance in the country but boasts of from one to a hundred miles of wooden block roadway, and we venture to say that the use of wood for this purpose, has, all things considered, given as good or better satisfaction than any other style of paving. The objections that have been largely from its tendency to wear in holes, necessitating frequent repairs after the second or third year. To obviate this trouble, various plans have been tried, but the experiments in the city of London, England, seem the most comprehensive and satisfactory of any which have come under our notice. The city engineer in his report for 1878 says that the manner in which the roads are laid, comprises a foundation of McAdam or concrete to a depth of six or eight inches. This is solidified with heavy rollers, packing all the interstices so that there is little or no chance for a settling of any part. Some of the experiments have included an asphalt mixture on top of the McAdam, rendering the surface strong and impenetrable to water. Blocks of the usual size are then placed in the usual manner on this foundation, and it is safe to say that they will wear for years and until worn or rotted out without the annoyance of holes, such as are inherent in the temporary board or sand foundation. The foundation thus laid will wear for ages, and the renewing of the blocks is a matter of slight expense. Pavements laid with such solid foundation will not ordinarily cost more than double what the present light foundations do, and in a run of 15 years will prove the cheapest.

In London the wood and asphalt pavements are laid by a company whose contract includes keeping them in repair for 15 years for 25 cents a square yard, per annum, after the second year. Of the comparative merits of wood, asphalt and granite pavements, the engineer reported that during the working days of March and April, or between eight o'clock A. M. and eight P. M., the number of horses passing over the different portions in our test were as follows: Over the wooden pavements, 32,000; over the asphalt, 23,000; over the granite, 14,000. The traffic was divided into vehicles drawn by one horse, 71 per cent., by two horses, 26 per cent.; the remaining three per cent. embracing those drawn by three or four horses. The number of horses falling down during the 50 days of test was 2,327, of which 542 fell on the wood, 719 on the granite, and 1,066 on the asphalt. Without going into all the details of this interesting report, we may say that the strain upon the horses was calculated upon its effect upon endurance, and it was estimated that with the same expenditure of force a horse could travel 132 miles on granite, 191 miles on asphalt, and 415 miles on wood. In wear and tear of vehicles, horse flesh and shoeing, the saving in the life of horses is as five to two in favor of wood, and in repairs and shoeing, as two in one; in other words, it cost just one-half as much to keep up repairs upon shoes and vehicles upon wooden pavements as it did upon the stone and asphalt, and three horses will last as long traveling upon wood as would five upon the harder surfaces.

The secret of a good wood block pavement is in the formation of a solid foundation from which the water can quickly drain after a rainfall. Preferably the top should be water tight and crowning in the center; the blocks should be of sound live timber, all of one variety of pine or other wood, in pines of all kinds, free from sap, and the interstices well filled with gravel, well cemented. For a permanent street, all sewer, gas and water pipes should be laid before the pavement is commenced, so as to obviate the necessity of disturbing the foundation after it has once been formed. Cedar blocks six to eight inches in length—the latter is worth more for wear than the increased cost—are the great favorite, in such localities as can obtain them, in competition with pine, and when well graveled in the first place and treated to a second coat of coarse gravel after having had a year or two of wear, in order to again restore the stony surface gained by the tramping and rolling in of the stone by the horses and vehicles which first pass over them, and which surface will measurably wear off in a couple of years, this wood may reasonably be expected to wear out before any material depreciation from decay will be discoverable.

JOHN MACKAY'S PERIL.

How a Miner once saved his Life in the Kentuck Mine.

From the Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

"Do you know that I once saved John Mackay's life?" said Tom Hedran of the Capitol Rotisserie a few days ago to a reporter of the Lyon County Times. "It was in the fall of '67," continued Hedran. "Mackay and Fair were just getting rich. They had obtained control of the Kentuck, and Mackay used to make three or four trips a day through the mine. Had never made any noise when he came, and we boys took to knowing when to expect him, always worked like tigers so he would not catch us loafing. Well, one day we had started a drift from the winze on the 150 level, near the south line, and had just retired to a recess dug out for shelter when we were to blast. We could hear the fuse spit and sputter. Just as we expected the premonitory fizz which indicates that the fuse has reached the powder, we heard a man's step on the platform at the bottom of the winze. I knew that in a second or two, if he was not out of the way, he would be horribly mangled by flying rocks. I was the nearest man out of shelter and jumped into the drift to warn him. As I exposed myself I saw him look about bewildered. He had evidently heard the fuse and realized that he could not get out of harm's way, as there were no [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] blocked up the only way of escape. As I realized the situation I yelled out 'This way, John!' He sprang toward me and cleared at least twelve feet at a bound. Just as he reached me the blast went off, pieces flying all about, but Mackay had escaped. That is how I saved John Mackay's life. After that he always shouted down the winze when he came, to see that all was right."

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 11, 1880—This is to certify that I have tried all kinds of Patent Medicines, which have failed as a cure in my case (I having a bad cold, which had settled on my lungs), when I was induced to try Prof. Rees' Compound Oxygen Treatment, which had the desired effect in two days, and in five days' treatment was completely restored to my sound health. JOHN ROBERTSON.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan 13, 1880.—Having taken treatment from Prof. Rees for a severe cold in the head, so bad that I could not breathe through my nostrils, and so severe on the lungs that I could not speak, when I was forced by friends to try the Compound Oxygen, with very little faith, but the first inhalation made me breath freely, and I am convinced that it is the best and quickest method known for to cure disease, and I cheerfully recommend it to all who are suffering from a Cold or Catarrh in the head. C. A. FRANCIS.

The only Genuine Compound Oxygen from here to New York City. Beware of imitations.

A LAST TALK.

Come into the garden and walk with me
 While the dancers whirl to the dreamy tune,
See, the moonlight silvers the sleeping sea
 And the world is fair as a night in June.
Let me hold your hand as I used to do,
 This is the last, last time, you know,
For to-morrow a wooer comes to woo,
 And to win you, though I love you so.

Hear the viol's cry, and the deep bassoon
 Seems sobbing out in its undertone
Some sorrowful memory, the tune
 Is the saddest one I have ever known;
Or is it because we must part to-night,
 That the music seems so sad? Ah, me!
You are crying, love, and your lips are white.
 Oh, the ways of life are a mystery!

Do you remember the night we met?
 You wore a rose in your yellow hair.
Looking back, I can see you yet,
 Just as you stood on the topmost stair,
A flutter of white from head to foot,
 A cluster of buds at your breast. Ah me!
The vision was never half so sweet
 As it is to-night in my memory.

I loved you, love, with a love so true,
 That in coming years I'll not forget
The beautiful form and face I knew,
 The memory will always hold regret.
I shall stand by the sea as I stand to-night,
 And think of the vision where brightness died
When the frosts of winter fell chill and white
 On the fairest flower of the summertide.

They are calling you. Must I let you go?
 Must I say good bye, and go my way?
If you must go, it is better so:
 Good bye's such a sorrowful word to say.
Give me, my darling, one last sweet kiss;
 So we kiss our dear ones and see them die,
But death holds no parting so sad as this.
 God bless and keep you, and so—good-bye!

DECISION IN THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT, DEADY, J.

U. S. Circuit Court—District of Oregon.

MONDAY, Jan. 26, 1880.

The Bank of British North America vs M. M. Ellis et al.

(1) ENDORSEES—DISCHARGE OF. When the holder of a negotiable instrument makes an early blank indorsement payable to himself he does not thereby discharge subsequent indorsers from their liability as such.

(2) ATTORNEY FEE. A stipulation by the maker of a negotiable instrument for the payment to the holder thereof of an attorney fee in case the same is not paid without action is a valid promise and passes with the instrument to each and every holder thereof; and each subsequent party to such instrument becomes thereby responsible in like manner for such fee to each and every subsequent holder thereof.

DEADY, J.

This action is brought to recover the sum of $2025 on 43 promissory notes made on May 1, 1878, by as many different persons, to the order of the Dayton, Sheridan and Grande Ronde Railway Co., and by it endorsed to J. Gaston. Afterwards and before the maturity of said notes, they were indorsed in blank by said Gaston and defendants and acquired by the plaintiff in the due course of business.

The case was before the court—November 12, 1879—on a demurrer to the original answer. The demurrer being sustained, the defendants had leave to file an amended answer containing further defences to the action, to which the plaintiff also demurs.

The complaint alleges that each of said notes contained a stipulation that in case suit should be instituted for the collection of the same, that there should be paid such sum as the court might deem reasonable as an attorney fee in said suit, and that $220 is such fee.

The amended answer denies that the plaintiff is entitled to recover any attorney fee in this action; and for a further defense alleges that after said notes had been indorsed in blank by said Gaston and the defendants, the said Gaston negotiated the same to the plaintiff and it became the owner thereof; that afterwards and before the commencement of this action the plaintiff wrote over said Gaston's name thereon a special indorsement to itself—"Pay to the —— of the Bank of British North America or order"—and "thereby released the defendants and each of them from any and all liability on said indorsements."

The answer also shows the order in which the endorsements were made on said notes, from which it appears that Gaston's name was written first and those of the five defendants immediately thereunder, so that it was convenient, if not necessary, for the plaintiff in writing the special directions thereon, making the notes payable to itself or order, to write the same as it did, immediately above the name of Gaston.

This defense assumes that the holder of a negotiable instrument who makes an early blank indorsement payable to himself thereby discharges all subsequent indorsers thereon from liability as such, the same as if he had stricken their names therefrom.

The only case cited which is directly in point, is that of Cole v. Cushing, 8 Pick., 48, in which it was held that such an act did not discharge the subsequent indorsers, but they still remained liable to the holder. To the contrary of this, there is a dictum or suggestion in 2 Par. on N. & B., 19, to the effect that "it might be said in such a case, that when the holder made the note payable to himself by the first indorser, he made himself indorsee of that indorser, and thereby discharged all subsequent indorsers."

The suggestion,—"it might be said"—however, distinguished the source, scarcely amounts to a quere, and certainly cannot overcome or cast doubt upon the well considered decision in Cole v. Cushing, with which my own judgment wholly concurs.

It is not to be presumed that the holder of a note with a number of indorsers thereon will intentionally discharge any of them without some reason or consideration commensurate with the loss of security for his debt thereby sustained. The indorsers having no right to be discharged, the act of the plaintiff ought not to be construed to have that effect, unless it plainly appears that such was the intention with which it was done, than which nothing is more improbable.

The direction written by the plaintiff over the indorsements upon the notes, is not written over the signature of Gaston exclusively, and under the circumstances may be regarded as having been made with reference to those of the defendants as well as that of the former.

The defendants were without interest in the notes. They were mere accommodation indorsers, and their signatures could not and did not have the effect to transfer them to any one, but only to give them currency so as to enable Gaston to dispose of them as he did.

Under these circumstances, there is no room for the inference, that the plaintiff intended by this act, even if it had no reference to the indorsements of the defendants, to discharge them from all liability thereon.

As to the attorney fee, the defendants claim that the promise to pay one, was only made by the makers of the notes, and that the subsequent parties thereto are under no such obligation to any one.

In the Wilson Sewing Machine Co. v. Moreno et al, (August 18, 1879) this court held that a stipulation to pay a reasonable attorney fee to the holder of a promissory note in case suit is brought to enforce the payment of the same, is just and valid, and that the negotiability of such note is not thereby affected or impaired.

But the defendants herein claim that such a stipulation or contract is only the promise of the maker and therefore not that of the defendants; and also that such stipulation, not being an integral part of the note but a contract collateral thereto, is not negotiable and therefore can only be enforced as between the immediate parties to it—the maker and payee.

In Smith v. The Muncie National Bank, 29 Ind., 158, it was held, that the acceptor of a bill of exchange which contained a stipulation for the payment of an attorney fee was bound to pay the same. But this conclusion rests upon the fact that the acceptor of a bill of exchange sustains the same relation thereto as does the maker of a note. In Hubbard v. Harrison, 38 Ind., a stipulation in a promissory note to pay an attorney fee was enforced in an action by the indorser against the payee, who was in fact an accommodation indorser. It was implied rather than said by the court that the note being negotiable notwithstanding the stipulation, the latter passed with the former and might be enforced by the holder thereof against any party to the instrument. In 1 Dan. Nego. Instr. § 62 it is said that the attorney fee need not be sued for by the attorney but may be recovered by the holder; and that the liability therefor "as for every engagement, imported by the bill or note, enters into the acceptor's and indorser's contract."

While there is a conflict in the authorities upon the question of whether an instrument, otherwise negotiable, that contains a stipulation for the payment of an attorney fee, is thus negotiable or not, no case has been cited which holds that such stipulation does not pass with the instrument, in case the same is deemed negotiable.

A stipulation in a negotiable instrument for an attorney fee, which in effect provides for the payment of certain expenses of collection in case the same is not paid without suit, so far gives security and currency to such instrument and is therefore to be regarded with favor as being a just and convenient means of promoting the general object and utility of the same.

At common law, the compensation of an attorney consisted of the various items allowed for his services, called collectively his "costs," and in case his client prevailed in the action, these were collected off the adverse party as a part of the judgment.

Substantially this stipulation for an attorney fee is a substitute for the allowance of costs at common law, and enables a party taking a negotiable instrument to provide, by agreement with the maker or endorser thereof, that if the same is not paid without suit, the holder shall recover his attorney fee as well as the principal and interest.

The maker of these notes having agreed to pay an attorney fee to the holder thereof if the same were not paid without action, in my judgment each subsequent party thereto assumed a like responsibility to such holder, and therefore the plaintiff is entitled to recover such fee from the defendants in this case.

But I think the defendants are liable to the plaintiff in this action for an attorney fee, even if the stipulation therefor can only be enforced between the immediate parties thereto. The defendants are accommodation indorsers—in effect makers of these notes. By their indorsement of them they authorized Gaston, the then holder to transfer them to the plaintiff, which was done. Every stipulation in them and every obligation incident thereto thereby became the stipulation and obligation of the defendants, made directly to the plaintiff.

The demurrer is sustained.

Ellis G. Hughes for the plaintiff.

George H. Durham and W. M. Gregory, for the defendant.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, Jan. 27.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Silver, 99¾ buying; par selling.

NEW YORK, Jan 27.—U. S. Bonds—5s of '81, 3¾; 4½s, 7¼; 4s, 4¼.

Silver bullion—1000 fine, per fine ounce 13½.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—U. S. Bonds—5s, 5¾; 4½s, 10¾; 4s, 7¾. Silver 52¾; Erie 48⅞.

Consols—98½ money.

At no time within the past seven months has the money market been more quiet than at present. While there is an ample available supply of capital, at rates which a few years ago in Portland would have been deemed very low, just at this time there seems to be no special inquiry from any direction. The extremely bad weather has checked local improvements, and traffic in domestic produce is very slack, so that there is but little business now to create a demand upon the local market. As soon as the roads in the interior of the state are cleared of the obstructions which the late storm caused and become passable, a marked increase in business generally is expected. It is also likely that a much greater call for funds will rule further on in the season. Better weather will also add to the impetus of trade. However, there seems reason to believe that the circulating capital of the country will be sufficient to amply support the business of the country.

It will concern those who contemplate building in Portland during the coming season to know that all material for that purpose has advanced considerably since last summer. We have before noticed that hardware of all classes had risen from 20@60 per cent., lumber 12@15 per cent, and glass and glaziers' materials as much. The only remaining articles in the line on which an advance has not been mentioned are leads, paints, etc., and we are now informed that dealers have marked these commodities up about 15 per cent. Drugs have also risen in value, and the staple drug, quinine, heretofore selling at $3 per oz, has advanced to $3 50.

In agricultural products, however, the general rise is not felt, but on the contrary the articles upon which the country grows rich and on which, those who produce them ought to realize the greatest profits are duller and slower sale, prices borne up or down by rings of speculators, and the profits of production going into the hands of men who never did an honest day's work in tilling the soil.

The local wheat market to-day presents an unchanged phase, there being but few shippers who seem to be under any immediate necessity, and most of them are doing next to nothing, waiting the turn of events. Holders are alike standing aloof, as there is a very widely prevailing impression that the present depression in prices is due more to an entirely speculative movement than otherwise. The best quotations obtainable to-day are $1 35, though this is nominal, and there is no manifestation of any disposition to sell at this figure.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.

The ship Ocean King, 2316 tons, chartered for wheat to Liverpool, Havre, Antwerp or Dublin, £2 5s. This charter indicates a further decline in freights, and it is doubtful whether any vessel could get over 50s.

Bags and Bagging—The market for wheat bags is unchanged. The Evelyn arrived to-day from Calcutta with 2,169,000 wheat bags and 3000 bales jute. Most of these bags were sold prior to arrival. The Cannonores is 65 days out with another cargo and will be due about the 1st of March. Quotations for wheat bags remain at 10@10½c, wool bags 44@48, gunnies 14c each.

Fish—Oregon canned salmon $1 35@1 45 per dozen 1 lb cans. Pacific codfish jobbing at 3½@4½c in bdls and 4½@5c for selected in cases.

Leather—Harness 32@40c, skirting 32@37½c, calf skins 70@$1 10, wax and buff leather 18@20c per foot, bridle $4@7 per side, kip skins $35@60 per dozen.

Lumber, wholesale rates—Oregon pine in rough state $17@21, laths $3 50, shingles $1 75.

Coal—The yards are bare of Seattle and are likely to be for another month, on account of the non-arrival of cargoes, the railroad absorbing all that comes under previous contract. Probably by the first of March, if not before, the movement will be as free as formerly. Preparations are also being made to renew work at the Renton mine in the same vicinity, when the supply of domestic will be increased. Coos Bay arrivals small. We quote Mount Diablo $4@4 50, Vancouver $6@8, Wellington $6@8 50, anthracite $8@10, Cumberland $12@18, Coos Bay $6 75@7, Seattle $6 60@7 50, foreign steam coals $6 50@8.

Coffee—City of Panama, from Panama, with first arrival this month or since the raising of the isthmus blockade. She brings 5200 bags Central American which is quoted at 17@18c; 1100 bags of Rio, which is quoted at 16@17c. Arrivals of Central American will hereafter be free. Prices nominal but easy.

Powder—California blasting $3 25 per keg; giant, 50c for No. 2 and 75c for No. 1; Vulcan blasting, 75c for No 1, 50c for No. 2 and 35c per lb for No. 3, with usual discount as to quantity.

Quicksilver—Dull and nominal at 33@35c.

Rice—Market quite firm at 6½c for Hawaiian table and 4½c for mixed China.

Salt—Liverpool fine, from warehouse, $21@22; Carmen Island, $14 for coarse and $20@22 for fine; California, $6 50@14 for coarse and $14@22 for fine.

Sugar—Patent cube in barrels, 12c; A crushed, 12c; extra powdered, 12½c; fine crushed, 12c; dry granulated, 11¾c; E extra granulated, 11½, golden C 10c; D, 9¾c; extra, 10¾c, for lots in barrels—half barrels ¼c more, and boxes ½c more. No orders received for less than the equivalent of 10 barrels. The Alpheta arrived from Manila to-day with 1000 tons of sugar.

Tea—Good medium grades of Japan are jobbing at 40@45c.

Tobacco—Some of the wholesale grocers have introduced a department for tobacco which promises to be something of a feature. We quote plug at 45@70c for jobbing lots of various brands; smoking, 35@45c; Connecticut, 15@35c.

Metals—Quotations for pig iron are quite nominal. Prices are relatively lower here than in New York. We give the extremes for all descriptions at $29@36 per ton. Pig tin, 18@20c per pound; tin plate, $8@9 per box; pig lead, 5@5½c; sheet lead, 7½@8; bar lead, 7@7½c; lead pipe, 8½c.

Butter—Supplies from southern counties are on the increase, but pretty well all that comes to market is taken for immediate use. We quote good to choice fresh California at 22½@25c; inferior to ordinary, 17@20c; inside rate for mixed lots from country stores for California firkin, 18@20c.

San Francisco Market Improving.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 27.

Wheat—Owing to reported improvements in Liverpool and Chicago markets and arrival of four deep water vessels for wheat, the feeling here is stronger and there is more disposition to buy. No. 1, $1 80@1 85; No. 2, $1 8½@1 87½.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 27.—Wheat—10s 11d per cental for average California white; 10s 1d@11s 3d for California club; 10s@10 8d for red western spring, and 10s 3d@11s for red winter.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Freights via Cape Horn remain rather quiet, and there is no improvement to note except perhaps that rates are firmer in consequence of reduced tonnage on berth and difficulty in obtaining vessels, there being a scarcity of such as are suited for this trade. The Spartan has completed her cargo. Other vessels on berth are loading slowly, both at this port, Philadelphia and Boston.

Markets are generally firmer.

Flour—Better demand; 5c to 10c better.

Wheat—Opened dull at an advance of 2c; closed active for good shipping demand.

Barley—Quiet and steady.

Provisions—Inactive.

Rio Coffee—Moderate demand with prices weak.

Refined Sugars—Neglected and slightly lower.

Teas—Quiet, but full prices demanded.

Hides—Dull.

Turpentine—Quiet.

Petroleum—Quiet, prices firmer.

Crude, sperm and Whale Oil—quiet but firm; sales of 300 bbls of sperm for export at $1 05.

Produce Receipts.

Produce receipts at Portland for the 24 hours ending at noon to-day:

Flour 250 bbls, hides dry 11, bran 49 sks, boots 2 cases, pelts 2 bdls, leather 8 rolls, oysters 12 sacks, 1 box, sturgeon 1, shot 9 bxs, seed 4 sks, tea 1 box, 4 sacks, honey 3 cases, potatoes 74 sacks, chickens 3 coops, eggs 12 boxes, fruit 65 cases, meal 7 cases, lard 1 case, hay 50 bales, beeves 7, onions 20 sacks, butter 4 kegs, beer 24 kegs, lumber 1500 feet.

Philadelphia Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Wool—More inquiry from manufacturers. Prices firm. Oregon fine, 37@42; medium, 40@42½; coarse, 35@38. California fine and medium, 37@40c; coarse, 31@37c. New Mexico and Colorado fine and medium 35@40c; coarse, carpet wool, 25@30c.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Jan 27.—Wheat—Higher, closing weak at $1 17¾ cash; $1 17¾ for February; $1 19¼, March.

Gold and Stock Company's Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.

Receipts—600 quarter sacks flour, 18,000 centals wheat, 227 centals oats, 3270 sacks potatoes, 4000 dozen eggs.

Wheat—Entirely nominal, with business at a standstill.

Barley—Nothing doing.

Corn—Salable at 95 for white, $1 for large yellow, $1 02½ for small yellow.

Flour—Dull and weak.

Potatoes—Sweets $1 25; Cuffey's Cove 60c; Humboldt 75c; red, 55@60; early rose, 50c; river red, best 75@80c.

Charters and Freights—It is claimed by holders that ships are not worth more than 48s; agents hold at 50s, and one asks 60s or from. There is a great lack of confidence, and it is doubtful if even cheap ships would make business very lively.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 26.

Shipping Intelligence.

The British ship Merjee Framjee will move up to Pacific dock, discharge remainder of ballast and then take in more wheat.

The British bark Lizzie Bell completed discharging ballast this morning and commenced taking in wheat this afternoon.

The British bark Girvan is discharging coal at the O. S. S. Co.'s dock.

The British bark William D. Seed will be taken to Astoria to-morrow.

There are four vessels in port disengaged, viz: Lizzie Iredale, Girvan, Eliza McNeil and Celeno.

The British bark Celeno, to H. Hewitt & Co., arrived at Astoria to-day and was ordered to this city. Not arriving in time, she loses her high rate charter.

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

KING OF THE BLOOD

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.

It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health, and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 60 doses. Sold by Dealers in medicine.
